

PERFECT TEAM 27

Road to the Perfect Team World Championship

The Road to the Perfect Team World Championship will again go through various avenues, boulevards, streets and paths, leading the glorious triumphs, broken dreams and adequate competence. Just like previous iterations of Perfect Team, the way you decide to get there is up to you. Just like in PT 25 and 26, qualification for the PTWCs will include league play, Perfect Team Championship Series (PTCS), Perfect Team Master Series (PTMS) and Perfect Team Live!

Every week, starting on Friday, March 13, 2026 (Launch Day), the tournament leaderboards will track your progress in the ten (10) different tournament formats. Each period's PTCS will occur on the Saturday of the first full week of the month. Here's a breakdown of the leader boards/standings now in ten (10) categories with new category identifiers:

- I* Iron
- B* Bronze
- S* Silver
- G* Gold
- D* Diamond
- O* Open
- L* Live (Any tournament or PD that exclusively uses Live cards)
- C* Cap (Any tournament with a cap)
- Daily Perfect Draft (this includes cumulative scores of all daily PDs)
- Weekly Perfect Draft (this includes cumulative scores of all weekly PDs)

Please note that all weekly tournaments will fall into the tier categories and/or Live and Cap. Weekly will no longer be its own category for tournaments.

Also, Cap and Live will go across tiers, so there could be multiple letters designating the tournament is feeding into two or three different standings. For example, a tournament could be titled O-L-C* Daily Live Cap, which would feed into the open standings, as well as the Live and Cap ones.

Points for Standings Finish to Qualify for PTCS

(These points are also used for PTWC qualifying)

Teams will accumulate points in the leaderboards based on finish in tournaments and PDs. Unlike previous PTs, the standings will be based on the number of teams in the tournaments instead of the classification. We will now have points based on tournaments with 32 teams, 64, 128 and 256. Please note that the points will not change if a tournament is cut due to a lack of entrants at the time it launches.

Points from PTCS Standings Finish to Qualify for PTMS

(These points are also used to qualify for the PTWC)

Not only will there be prizes at stake in the PTCS, but there will be points earned for place of finish that will feed into the PTCS standings to help determine the field for the PTMS. These standings will group all of the tournament PTCSes together and all of the PD PTCSes together for two standings (one for tournaments and one for PDs). The top 128 teams in both of those standings will qualify for the PTMS. These are the points earned from the PTCS:

- 1st: 300 points
- 2nd: 100 points
- 3rd-4th: 75 points
- 5th-8th: 40 points
- 9th-16th: 20 points
- 17th-32nd: 5 points
- 33rd-64th: 2 points
- 64th-128th: 1 point

The only way to reach the PTMS will be to have enough success in the PTCSes to accumulate points to get into the top 128 of the standings

Points from PTMS Standings Finish to Qualify for PTWC

Points accumulated in the PTMS for place of finish will go towards qualification for the PTWC. If the PTMS becomes a multi-event competition, then we will use the PTWC points system to determine the final standings and distribution of these points.

- 1st: 300 points
- 2nd: 100 points
- 3rd-4th: 75 points
- 5th-8th: 40 points
- 9th-16th: 20 points
- 17th-32nd: 5 points
- 33rd-64th: 2 points
- 64th-128th: 1 point

Perfect Team World Championship

There will be two PTWCs in PT 27. Due to the success of the multi-day, multi-competition event from PT 25, the PTWC will occur over a weekend with the winner decided by a point structure and final standings. Qualifying for the PTWC will include different facets of PT; league play, PTCS, PTMS and PT Live. Please note that the Cap and Live standings will not factor into the PTWC standings since those points will already be tabulated through the various categories. Lives and Caps will always be tied to another category, There is no double- or triple-dipping.

Points Earned within the PTWC to determine the Winner

Mentioned earlier, the PTWC will be a multi-competition event. In PT 25 and 26, we ran multiple traditional tournaments and PDs, accumulating standings points to determine a final winner. We will run the same system for the PTWC in PT 27, but we reserve the right to have more traditional tournaments and/or PDs, so be ready for any curveballs. These are the points that are gained during the PTWC to determine the final standings and the winner:

- 1st: 125 points
- 2nd: 100 points
- 3rd-4th: 75 points
- 5th-8th: 50 points
- 9th-16th: 35 points
- 17th-32nd: 20 points
